

Using the sticky notes, what are some characteristics of young children? How are they different from older children, youth, and adults as learners?