

Cornell University Online Course · March 6–April 30, 2018

Urban Environmental Education

CORNELL UNIVERSITY CIVIC ECOLOGY LAB

Instructors: Alex Kudryavtsev, Yue Li, Marianne Krasny

Course Info and Registration: <https://civicecology.org/course-UEE>

This course is based on the Urban Environmental Education Review textbook <http://tinyurl.com/UEERbook>. It covers learning in urban environments, inspiring educational programs from cities around the world, and applications for developing and improving your own environmental education programs. Learn from video lectures, readings, and exchanging ideas and resources with other course participants and instructors from countries around the world. Earn a Cornell Certificate upon completion. Participants with any level of experience and from any country welcome.

Cost: $50. As part of our commitment to making our online courses available to anyone anywhere, and to creating a rich global online learning community, those without the ability to pay can sign up for free. We also offer participants a $100 registration fee option to anonymously sponsor a student who is unable to pay. Course includes free access to 25 Urban Environmental Education Review chapters. Register by March 4th!

Environmental Education for Sustainable, Just, and Livable Cities

Become part of a global community of committed environmental and education professionals, students, and volunteers.

To register: <https://civicecology.org/course-UEE>